Lincoln School Opening May 11th Will Be Seventh of Year in City

North Torrance double sessions will take another big dip on May 11 with the opening of Lincoln Elementary School, 166th and Arlington Ave., according to school officials.

Walter W. Bueitgenbach, 32, vice principal at Seaside School, this week was named to the Board of Education as the new principal. Lincoln School, with an expected enrollment of about 580 students, will wipe out double sessions at Casimir School, which now has the largest percentage of half-day students in Torrance.

A LARGE majority of Lincoln students will be transferred with their classes and teachers from Casimir, although some shifts may be necessary. Eighth grade students will graduate with their Casimir classes. With the change, all Lincoln and Casimir students will be within walking distance of their schools.

Because of heavy double sessions and because most students will be able to move with their classes and teachers, officials decided to make the change with a month of classes remaining. A regular summer school program is scheduled at Lincoln School. Information can be obtained by calling Casimir School.

Facilities at Lincoln School, which cost $368,000, will include 13 classrooms, two kindergarten rooms, music and multipurpose buildings, and an administration building. Additional classrooms are scheduled to be added to the plant later.

This is the seventh new elementary school to open in Torrance this year.

Victor Picked As School Name

An architect was hired to design 28 new classrooms for six Torrance elementary schools and a name was picked for another proposed school at the Torrance Board of Education meeting last week.

Architect Roy Donley was hired to design additions at Carr, Crenshaw, Magruder, Anza, Flavian, and Meadow Park Schools. The proposed new elementary school in the Victor Tract will be called the Victor School.

Four new classrooms and a music room are planned at Carr and Meadow Park Schools. Anza and Flavian Schools each will get four new classrooms. Crenshaw School will get six new classrooms, while Magruder School will have three more rooms and a music room.

The additions probably will be completed in about two years.

School Nurses Hold May Meet In El Monte

Los Angeles County School Nurses Assn. will hold its annual dinner meeting at the Valle Lindo School, El Monte, Thursday, May 7, according to Program Chairman Lenora Anderson, school nurse of the Torrance Unified School District.

Following a business meeting at 5:15 p.m., a pit barbecue dinner will be served at 6:15 p.m.

"Barriers to Communication" will be discussed at 7 p.m. by Dr. Nicholas Rose, chief of Clinical Psychology Service, Wadsworth Hospital and assistant clinical professor of psychology at UCLA. School nurses desiring to make reservations are asked to write to Mrs. Hazel Gill, 1304 Potrero Ave., El Monte.

ACCOUNTANTS MEET

"A Prescription For Timely Reporting to Management" presented by Harry N. Kamph, principal, H. N. Kamph and Associates, management consultants and systems engineers will be the feature attraction at next Wednesday's regularly scheduled technical dinner meeting for Torrance industrial accountants sponsored by the Long Beach Chapter of the National Association of Accountants.
